

Frequently Asked Questions

1. How do I get permission to attend a driving safety class?

Permission is granted by the court listed on your traffic citation. If you have any questions involving this matter or any interpretation of Texas law, it is advisable that you consult with an attorney or with the court that has jurisdiction of the case.

2. What's covered during the class?

The educational objectives of driving safety courses shall include, but not be limited to promoting respect for and encouraging observance of traffic laws and traffic safety responsibilities of drivers and citizens; reducing traffic violations; reducing traffic-related injuries, deaths, and economic losses; and motivating continuing development of traffic-related competencies.

3. How many hours must I attend?

You must attend six (6) hours.

4. How much does a driving safety class cost?

By law, the cost of this class must be at least $25.00.

5. Where are the classes held?

Classes are held online or in traditional classroom locations.

6. Will I receive my certificate at the end of the class?

No. By law, the certificate must be mailed to you by the course provider.

7. May I have the course provider mail the certificate directly to the court?

No, the course provider is not permitted to mail the certificate to the court.

8. How long will it take for me to receive the certificate?

You should receive it within one to three weeks after the class is completed unless you request (and pay for) an expedited delivery.

9. If I don't receive the certificate, who should I contact?

If you don't receive your certificate within three weeks (21 calendar days) from the date you completed the class, contact the online course or classroom instructor.
